

We Need Your Help with our 50th Anniversary Commemorative Calendar

Did you know that:

- June 25, 1972 was the UCC ordination date of the first openly gay minister, Rev. William R. Johnson?
- September 3, 1846 the AMA (American Missionary Association) was organized?
- July 1, 1839 African slaves revolted and overtook the schooner, La Amistad?

What are the important dates in the life of your church? We want to know!

The Conference will publish a commemorative 2016 calendar filled with dates from all our Conference churches. This calendar will be available for purchase and is in conjunction with the 50th Anniversary celebration of the Southeast UCC Conference.

To submit dates, email them to Debbie Spearman at dspearman@secucc.org by October 12.

Board of Directors Fall Retreat

The Southeast Conference Board of Directors met for their Fall Retreat, September 25-26, at Lake Lanier Islands Resort in Buford Georgia. Rev. Dr. Cari Jackson facilitated the retreat focusing on leadership development, team building, and beginning a visioning process for the Southeast Conference as we begin to look at the ministry of the Conference moving forward.

The Board Ambassadors program was launched with the new and continuing Board members. (See the Board Roster here)

All congregations have been partnered with a Board member to build a relationship with the Conference and with leaders. Expect to hear from your Board Ambassador in the near future. And remember to invite them to your special events such as anniversaries or special programs. They will be in contact with you to present Our Churches Wider Mission (OCWM) and Five for Five certificates among other ways of connecting and honoring your ministries in the Southeast Conference.

The Board of Directors looks forward to serving local churches and pastors in the coming year as we begin the work of visioning and strategic planning for the life and work of the Southeast Conference.

MAKING A DIFFERENCE: Reports from Churches that Received Conference Grants

PEACE CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH , CLEMSON Conference Grant received for INTERFAITH BULLYING PREVENTION

Jody Usher, moderator, writes the following update on their project: "We will bring together interfaith religious groups in our area whose youth face hostility. Peace Church has developed programs for LGBTQ+ youth, and we are concerned about the hostile world they face. We know the experience of the youth we have worked with has parallels in the experience of African-American and Muslim youth. Our goal is to bring faith groups together, around an issue on which we all have something to learn and something to teach. Our pilot program for adults is a dinner for 40 to 50 people from 5 to 7 faith groups. The host church is Abel Baptist who's Food Ministry will do the cooking. This event will take place on Wednesday Oct. 7 from 6:00 to 8:00pm and includes a visiting "expert" from Olweus Bullying Prevention Program at Clemson University.

Neighbors in Need Special Mission Offering

Neighbors in Need (NIN) is a special mission offering of the UCC that supports ministries of justice and compassion throughout the United States. One-third of NIN funds support the Council for American Indian Ministry (CAIM). Two-thirds of the offering is used by the UCC's Justice and Witness Ministries (JWM) to support a variety of justice initiatives, advocacy efforts, and direct service projects through grants.

Neighbors in Need grants are awarded to churches and organizations doing justice work in their communities. These grants fund projects whose work ranges from direct service to community organizing and advocacy to address systemic injustice. Funding is provided through donations to the Neighbors in Need offering. Recent grant recipients in Southeast Conference include Open Table UCC in Mobile for a LGBT Teen Center; Church of the Savior Knoxville for a worker justice outreach program; Praxis Americus for the Community Home School Cooperative to develop and implement an anti-bullying curriculum; Unity UCC in Montgomery for Unity Academy, an after school and college preparatory program; and Circular Congregational in Charleston for Charleston Area Justice Ministry, an ecumenical network addressing issues of justice in the Charleston area.

Most UCC congregations will receive the NIN offering on October 4, 2015 as part of their World Communion Sunday observance. However, some local churches select another date. NIN contributions can be made online at any time here.

Global Ministries Refugee Response

The United Church of Christ, through Global Ministries, has been working with our partners in the Middle East since the beginning of the current immigration and refugee crisis in Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Turkey. Our church is committed to working with those partners on site to meet the immediate needs of the refugees, those internally displaced and advocating for justice and fair treatment of all God's children.

We also have longstanding partners in Europe who are responding. The Waldensian Church in Italy is addressing the tragedy of refugees crossing the Mediterranean from North Africa and there have been direct conversations with German and Hungarian partners who are responding to the influx into their countries.

Global Ministries has been working with our partners in two ways: meeting the immediate needs of the refugees and the internally displaced, and doing justice advocacy to address the underlying causes. Information is regularly posted on the Middle East and Europe portion of the Global Ministries website: <http://www.globalministries.org/mee>

Our churches are invited to please pay particular attention to the Middle East Initiative which was launched at General Synod and which has Exile and Diaspora as one of its emphases. The initiative includes an opportunity to give financially to support the refugee work: click here, and there is information on advocacy opportunities: click here. Your church can give on line, or checks can be sent to 700 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, marked "Refugees." Refugee work is also supported by OGHS and donations can also be made via that route: OGHS.

Jottings from June

As a local church pastor, I always enjoyed this time of year when we return from our summer activities and start the fall program season. Rally Day, Homecoming, new book groups, Bible study starting up again, Sunday School, Youth Group are among all the ministries that encourage and enliven us. It is a reflection of the diversity of people and programs in the church that serve the needs of people to deepen their faith, enrich their worship, increase their knowledge, and provides for faithful fellowship.

This kind of activity is no different in the Conference setting. We just concluded the Southeast Conference Board of Directors retreat. My October calendar includes the Alabama-Tennessee-Mississippi Association meeting, the Southern and Southeast Conferences Retired Servants gathering at Blowing Rock Conference Center; the anniversary celebration at Real Inspiration Ministry (formerly Restoration Inclusive Ministries) in Decatur, Atlanta Pride weekend, the annual meeting of the Council of Conference Ministers, the Southern Region Women's Retreat which Southeast Conference is hosting this year, speaking at the Upper Room Fellowship in Nashville, and attending the organizing meeting of the national UCC Regional Theological Education Consortium of which PATHWAYS is a member.

I get excited when I see the diversity of ways in which the United Church of Christ in our local congregations, within the Conference, and in the wider church meets the needs of its members. I hope you take time to read the article about the Neighbors in Need offering. Southeast Conference churches have been important contributors but have also reaped the benefits of the grants awarded to local projects (see the list in the article). Please take the time to read the Caring Community Prayer List for this month so that we can keep churches and ministers in our thoughts and prayers as they engage in this labor of love called ministry.

As we settle into our activities and begin to look forward to Thanksgiving and Advent, let us be grateful for all the blessings of our respective and common ministries and look forward to the new life that we are offered by the grace of the Spirit moving within and among us.
